The President Sends in a Number of Nominations To-day---Other Capital News.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—In the senate to-day Edmunds reported a resolution from the senate committee on judiciary, accompanied by a long report. That report was agreed to and adopted that the senate express its condemnation of the refusal of the attorney general under whatever influence, to send to the senate copies of papers called for by its resolution of the 25th of January as in violation of his official duty and subversive of the fundamental principles of the government and of the good administration thereof. That it is under those circumstances the duty of the senate to refuse its advice and consent to proposed removals of officers, documents and papers in reference to the supposed official or personal misconduct of whom are withheld by the executive, or any head of a department when deemed necessary by the senate and called for in considering the matter; also that the provision of the statutes concerning disabled soldiers in office ought to be faithfully and fully put in execution, and that to remove any such soldier whose faithfulness, competency and character are above reproach, and to give his place to another who has not rendered such service, a violation of the spirit of the law, and of practical ingratitude to the people and the government of the United States and the defenders of constitutional liberty and the integrity of the government.

(Signed) EDMUNDS,
INGALLS,
MCMILLAN,
HOAR,
WILSON,
EVARTS.

The report recites the facts and circumstances of the removal of Dustin and the appointment of his successor as United States attorney for the southern district of Alabama. It declares that it has been the uniform practice of the judiciary committee, since the passage of the tenure of office act, to call upon the heads of departments for all "papers and information in possession of the department" touching the conduct and administration of the officer proposed to be removed, and the character and conduct of the person proposed to be appointed. In no instance until this time has the committee met with any delay or denial in respect to furnishing such papers and information, with but a single exception, in which the delay was brief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day:

John Christian Franks, of California, United States marshal for California.

Postmasters: Titusville, Pa., Dudley S. Nye; Houghton, Mich., Edward R. Pemberty.

Lieut. Col. Nelson B. Sweetser, 8th cavalry, to colonel of 2d cavalry.

First Lieut. Edward E. Wood, 8th cavalry, to rank of captain.

Second Lieut. John A. Johnston, 8th cavalry, to 1st Lieut.

An Important Discovery.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 18.—It is announced here to-day that Prof. Weber, of the chair of agricultural chemistry at the State university, has just made an important discovery in chemistry, in connection with microscopic tests to distinguish oleomargarine from butter. By mixing a little water and salt with oleomargarine, the bogus butter develops under the microscope exactly such crystals as are found in the legitimate article.

Murdered by an Insane Man.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 18.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Runnells, a small town seventeen miles east of Des Moines. Floyd West, a respectable miner, was discovered murdered in his bed, with the probable assassin, a brother-in law, standing over him with uplifted ax. It is supposed that the brother-in-law is insane.

Manager Rickaby Dead.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—John Rickaby, manager of the Lyceum theater, died this morning.

Children Burned to Death.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—A special from Tangier, Va., says: On Sunday afternoon Captain W. L. Truitt's wife went to Sunday school, leaving four little children at home. Three little girls named Cooper, from a neighboring house came in, and while they were playing the fire went out. Captain Truitt's daughter, aged seven, put some kindling in the stove, while another child struck a match and put it to the oil. By accident a terrible explosion followed. The child who held the can was instantly killed and a two year-old boy was so badly injured that he died in three hours.

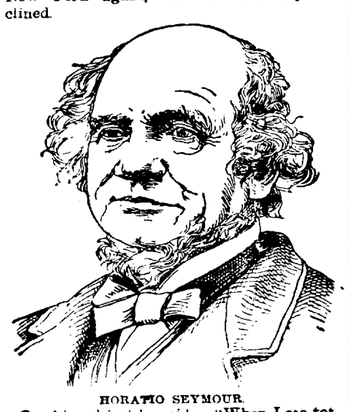
HORATIA SEYMOUR.

Senator Conkling Trembles Like an Aspen Leaf.

Picture of Mr. Seymour's Home Among the Deerfield Hills---The House in Which He Died.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A memorial of the life of ex-Gov. Horatio Seymour is being written for public sale, and an incident of the funeral is just now being discussed, Ex-Senator Conkling, his brother-in-law, was at the church and during the singing of the final hymn in the church service he trembled like an aspen leaf, and perspiration oozed from every pore. He is now in New York city. There is some thing strange in the death within four months of three defeated Democratic candidates for the presidency—McClellan, Hancock and Horatio Seymour. Mr. Seymour was chairman of the convention that nominated McClellan in 1864. Again, in 1868, he was chairman of the convention to nominate another Democratic presidential candidate. There, in spite of his protests, amid a tumult which persistently drowned all his efforts to make himself heard so that he might decline, he himself was nominated. It is the only instance in our history in which the chief officer of a presidential convention himself received the nomination.

Of late years not much has been heard of this venerable and distinguished man. After his defeat in 1868, although not at all an old man, being only 58, he made up his mind fixedly that he would never be a candidate for political office again. He might have been senator, and governor also of New York again, but he resolutely declined.



HORATIO SEYMOUR.

On this subject he said: "When I see tottering old men, upon the brink of the grave, engaged in an unseemly scramble for office, I am always reminded of Holbein's picture of 'The Dance of Death.' It shall never be said of me that I took part in such a cotillion. I shall never be a figure in such a picture." And he certainly never did.

Horatio Seymour was born at the hamlet of Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, in May, 1810. It has been said that he was born and reared in the "days of vital piety, sound democracy and pure liquor."

Seymour served on the staff of Governor William L. Marcy. That was his first office. He was elected to the New York legislature, as a Democrat, in 1842, mayor of Utica in 1843, and to the legislature again in 1844, being speaker of the house; Governor of New York in 1850, and again in 1863. He died Feb. 12, 1886.

Mr. Seymour married, early in life, Miss Mary Bleecker, of Albany, a daughter of one of the old Dutch Knickerbocker families. She was heiress, among other inheritances, to an estate of 500 acres lying on the northern bank of the Mohawk river three miles from Utica.

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR'S HOME.

This homestead is on the range of the Deerfield hills and has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour for many years. Upon one of them is the old-fashioned cottage which was their residence. From the porch in front can be seen the beautiful Mohawk valley for fifteen miles. It is in a most picturesque and commanding spot. A lovely emerald lawn stretches in front. The occupants of the old-fashioned cottage had the admirable taste not to tear it down and rebuild it in the style of some of the meaningless monstrosities fashionable in our time.

When one thinks of this lovely home, with everything in and about it to make life desirable and happy, one is not surprised at Mr. Seymour's fixed resolution never to leave it again for political office. He chose certainly the more comfortable part. Another thought comes to mind in this connection, too. It will be remembered that in 1876, when Hon. Samuel J. Tilden was the Democratic standard bearer, there were misgivings as to whether, if elected, he would live his term out. He seemed even then to some good judges to be such a feeble old man that it was almost folly to nominate him for president. Well, McClellan is dead, Hancock is dead, and now Horatio Seymour, all presidential candidates of their party. Mr. Tilden yet lives, 72 years old the very day Gen Hancock died. His health is as good as it has been for years, and his mind is lively enough to write a national letter about our coast defenses that "echoes round the world." Fate makes strange playthings of us.

ROSCOE CONKLING'S RESIDENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour came into the city of Utica to spend the winter. Mrs. Roscoe Conkling was Mr. Seymour's sister. They lived in her house, and it was here the ex-governor died. Mrs. Seymour was very ill, and she it was who was expected not long to survive. The ex-governor's death was not looked for. The shock of his death will probably be too much for his suffering wife. They have been married over fifty years.

Although Mr. Seymour figured so prominently in the politics of his party for so many years, yet it is to be remembered that he never held a national office. He was never even in congress. His political career was confined to his own state of New York.

The most prominent part of his official career is connected with the famous draft riots in New York city when he was governor. This subject was not a pleasant one to Mr. Seymour to talk of. He was regarded during the war as in favor of a peaceful dismemberment of the Union. But in his inaugural address in 1863 he said: "Under no circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded." Improper Uses of the Devil.

The Devil has been put to many improper uses, whatever may be his good uses. He has been used to carry our sins, when we should bear the blame ourselves. For scarcely is anything bad done but we charge the Devil with tempting us to do it, and so measurably get rid of the responsibility. He has been used extensively in swearing, and thus made to promote profanity. His name has been given to many picturesque places, thereby profaning much that is romantic and inducing thoughts about him out of place. He has been used as a term of comparison, by which he has been made to resemble everything on earth. "Like the devil" has been predicated of the most unlike things and persons. He has been used as the terminus for all sorts of journeys recommended. "Go to the devil" is a prescription used when all other remedies fail. He has been made the standard for all weights and measurements, "heavy as the devil," "fast as the devil," and like comparisons, being in such use as to almost supplant the metrical system. Through the most uncertain standard he squares more men and things than any unit yet devised. The Devil has been used more out of place than in it, being more on earth than in hell. If we had to make up our impressions of his Satanic Majesty from the many things he has been said to look like, it would be as hard to get a consistent opinion of his appearance as of his character.—Austin Bierbower, in the Current.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

The American Prelate Recently Promoted.

The second citizen of the United States who has been raised to the ecclesiastical dignity of a membership in the college of cardinals is Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore. The college of cardinals corresponds to our electoral college, as its chief purpose is to elect the pope or president of its church. The cardinals, who number about sixty, are chosen by the living pope in order that they may elect his successor. Archbishop Gibbons is 52 years of age and a native of Baltimore. He began life as a clerk in New Orleans. His vocation appearing to be toward the ministry he began a long series of studies and was ordained a priest. He was connected for many years with several Baltimore churches; took an important part in the deliberations of the Plenary Council of Baltimore in 1866, and presided at the following councils held in 1879 and 1885 in the same city. He was sent to labor in North Carolina in 1868 and was soon afterward consecrated bishop. In 1872 he was transferred to the see of Richmond, Va. In 1877 he was consecrated coadjutor archbishop to Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore, and upon the death of the latter succeeded him. His has been a democratic promotion by unquestionable merit, and by hard work he has stepped slowly from the plane of a humble priest to the next to the highest honor in his church. Among Baltimore citizens of every creed he is distinguished for his humility, piety and broad Christian views.

ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS.

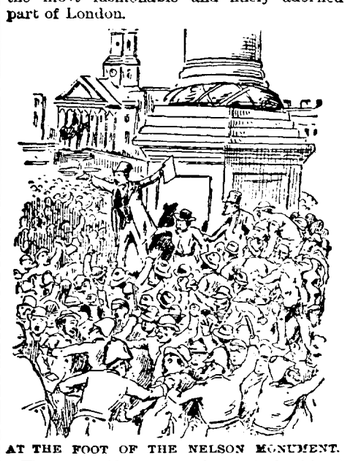
LONDON NOTES.

The Riot--Choking Off an Orator With a Red Flag.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—You will get some idea of how large London is by remembering that the population of this one city is only about 100,000 less than that of the whole state of New York, New York city included. London has nearly 5,000,000 inhabitants. Four-fifths of those are wage workers. The problem of bread to eat for them becomes more and more serious every year. It is a question that, "like a hungry lion creeping ever nigh and nigher," must be faced before many years. When the time comes the hundreds of thousands of deer parks in the United Kingdom must be made to yield bread for the people instead of game for gentlemen, or there will be revolution.

The mob which has scared London out of its seven senses to-day started in a meeting of unemployed workmen to state their grievances.

One Burns was the speaker. These dirty workingmen assembled in Trafalgar square, the most fashionable and finely adorned part of London.



AT THE FOOT OF THE NELSON MONUMENT.

That of itself was enough to set the blood of the British aristocracy boiling. But when one of the common herd ascended the steps of the Nelson monument, which is in the very heart of this fashionable and highly ornate square, that was adding insult to injury. The four crouching bronze lions that adorn the corners of the pedestal of the Nelson column didn't seem to mind it much, but the live British lion couldn't stand it. Burns, the big mouthed orator, began reading a set of resolutions denouncing the government as the author of the workingmen's misery, and demanding that parliament give them employment. The orator also waved a red flag. Red flags are carried in processions in America, and nobody minds them much. But while Mr. Burns was reading his resolutions and holding his red flag, the police made a dive for him. There is every probability that if the constables had let the orator finish his speech, there would have been no trouble. But they laid hands on him and choked him off. Then began the trouble that you have read of in your dispatches. There are 12,000 policemen in London, but all their efforts could not dispel that rabble. It was composed of workingmen and socialists at first, 10,000 strong. Afterward the slums joined in and swelled the number to 50,000. Oxford street, along which they marched, smashing windows and pillaging, is the fashionable retail shopping street of London. It was fortunate they did not attack the National Gallery on the square. Had the mob chosen, blood would have been spilt in abundance, for they had it all their own way. The worst damage to person was received by a dainty sprig of the nobility, Lord Cremorne. He had some of his pretty clothes pulled off and a valuable scarf pin stolen. JOHN STETSON.

A NEW YORK murderer named Smith was so confident of acquittal that he declined to plead guilty to an inferior grade of homicide. Forty-nine of the first fifty talesmen summoned swore that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment. An extra panel of one hundred was summoned, but only fifty talesmen appeared, from whom five were sifted who had no scruples against hanging; the fifty delinquents were fined $150 each. Then an extra fifty were subpœnaed, twenty of whom were fined $250 each; the remaining thirty yielded two jurors. Still another panel of fifty was drawn; fourteen absentees were fined $250 each, and the last four jurors were obtained. Smith was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and will be hanged.

EX-MAYOR WILLIAM L. EWING, of St. Louis, who was defeated at the last election by David R Francis, makes startling allegations of fraud against his successful opponent. The majority of Francis over Ewing was 1,527 votes and Ewing claims that thousands of names were voted in illegally; that dead men apparently voted; that repeaters were at work; that registration from vacant lots was practiced, and that there was a wholesale destruction of republican and substitution of democratic ballots. It seems late to be making these charges concerning an election that took place last spring.

IN an interview in New York city Monday General Sherman said: "The tyranny of the press in this country is becoming simply awful. It is worse than the old tyranny of the slaveholders. It will cause a worse revolution than slavery did. It will not be bloodless, either. Why, the gossip of the press has destroyed social freedom of intercourse; it has made men afraid of their neighbors; it has led to general suspicion and distrust. No man can open his mouth any more and be sure that his confidence will be respected." THE SENTINEL is not on this category as it is always reliable and aims to do right, giving the news in advance of its cotemporaries.

COMPARATIVELY few states are represented in the senate by citizens born within their own borders. New York gave Lalaud Stanford to California, Teller to Colorado, Conger to Michigan, Van Wyck to Nebraska, Dolph to Oregon and Payne to Ohio. Ohio gave Voorhees and Harrison to Indiana, Allison and Wilson to Iowa, and Plumb to Kansas. Kentucky gave Cullom to Illinois, Gibson to Louisiana, Vest to Missouri, Maxey to Texas, and Call to Florida. Massachusetts gave Ingalls to Kansas and Evarts to New York. Among the states which send native-born citizens to the senate are Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia. Jones, of Florida, Fair and Swell are Irishmen; Beck is a Scotchman, and Jones of Nevada, is a Welshman. Nevada is the only state represented by two aliens, namely, Jones born in Wales, and Fair, born in Ireland.

IT is published at Indianapolis that the boiler house at the new hospital for the insane, at Evansville, which has cost so far $18,000, was in danger of falling, owing to cracked walls and foundations. E. H. Ketcham, architect for the new insane hospital, said yesterday that he had expected this some time ago. In his report to the board of commissioners, made last fall, he had stated that the boiler house was built upon a bed of quicksand and he had advised making a concrete floor fifteen inches thick beneath the boiler house and its area. It will be remembered that the republicans packed the commission that selected the insane hospital sites, and ex-Gov. Porter especially took care that Fort Wayne should be excluded.

CATARRH

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, is neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acting though the blood reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

A child having no eyes was born to a young married couple living near Remington, Ind., last week. The eyelids are as perfect as any child's, but back of them are no eye balls. Otherwise the child is normal. It is their first child.

A Strong Endorsement

is conferred upon that magnificent institution, the human system, by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" that fortifies it against the encroachments of disease. It is the great blood purifier and alterative, and as a remedy for consumption, bronchitis, and all diseases of a wasting nature, its influence is rapid, efficacious and permanent, sold everywhere.

The Drunkard is a burden to himself as well as a friends; but, since intoxication becomes a disease, it requires a remedy of no unusual activity. Those who have taken Simmons Regulator declare that it sets the liver in action and invigorates the system in such a way as to destroy the craving for strong drinks. The shaky, nervous and distressed should resort to the Regulator as a tonic to arouse the torpid liver to action, to regulate the bowels and remove the feeling of general depression and with it the craving for liquor.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Four score years and ten have not seen the equal of Ely's Cream Balm as a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It works like magic, giving relief at once and permanent benefit. A thorough treatment cures the worst case. Apply in the nostrils.
We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiry is, "It's the best remedy I have ever used." Our experience is that where parties continued its use it never failed to cure.—J. H. DR. A. C. HOXSIE'S CERTAIN CROUP CURE.—This preparation, a private and original prescription, was extensively used in an unlimited practice for many years, with perfect success by the late A. C. Hoxsie, M.D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Having thoroughly tested and tried this remedy, he had no hesitation in pronouncing it positive, swift and sure to cure Croup in its most aggravated form, when administered promptly and according to direct ons. Its powerful and direct effect upon the diseased mucous membrane, render it particularly invaluable to those living at a distance from a physician—as it is seldom necessary to call in professional aid, if the "Certain Croup Cure" is near at hand. While powerful and effectual, it contains no opium in any form, nor any drug which can have a deleterious or injurious effect upon the system. The most delicate infant may take it, as directed, with perfect safty. Price $1.00. For sale by all first-class druggists, wholesale and retail. dec22-eodawâm

Paper for Bank Notes.

[Boston Traveller.]

An old secret service officer said:

"The new distinctive paper for the manufacture of bank and national notes will prove a failure, in my estimation. None of it has yet been issued from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, for the good reason that Secretary Manning has ordered that all of the old fiber paper shall be used up before the new is put out. Somehow the Secretary has become possessed of the idea that the nearer we get to the paper used by the Bank of England the more secure we will be against counterfeiting. Now that is preposterous right on its face. The condition of our paper currency cannot be compared with that of England, and for the reason that every note that goes into the Bank of England, no matter what its condition may be, is destroyed at once and a new one issued in its place. There are hundreds of cases where the notes of the Bank of England have been counterfeited, and some of them pretty successfully, too.

"Only an expert can detect the difference between them and the genuine, and yet it is proposed to adopt the water-mark as a protection against counterfeiting. The fiber paper has been successfully imitated by one man only, notwithstanding the long number of years it has been in circulation. A little over nine years ago Tom Ballard, who is probably the most expert counterfeiter of this generation, made a paper which it was impossible to distinguish from the genuine. This was never successfully accomplished before, and never has been done since. Fortunately we caught Ballard and convicted him. He was sent to the Albany prison for a term of thirty years. No one but Ballard knows how he made that imitation, and although we have made every legitimate endeavor that human ingenuity could suggest to get the secret from him, we have signally failed. Ballard has invented a new paper for bank and national notes since he has been in prison.

"The fiber paper has been imitated but once, and that by a counterfeiter who will be an aged and decrepid old man, should he live long enough to serve out his term. The water-mark paper is being constantly imitated, even in a country where the currency is kept in much better condition than ours.

"Another point is that after the notes become soiled the water-mark will become completely effaced, and we shall have the vast majority of our notes floating through the channels of trade without any distinctive device whatever so far as the paper is concerned."

A Dinner in Morocco.

Before taking our places at the table, we seated ourselves cross-legged on the carpets, around the master's secretary, who prepared tea for us, and made us take according to custom three cups apiece, excessively sweetened and flavored with mint.

After tea we took our seats at the table, and the master being entreated seated himself also; and then the Arab dishes, objects of our intense curiosity, began to circulate. I tasted the first with simple faith. Great heaven! My first impulse was to attack the cook. All the contractions that can be produced upon the face of a man who is suddenly assailed by an acute colic, or who hears the news of his banker's failure, were I think visible on mine.

I understood in one moment how it was that people who ate in that way should believe in another God, and take other views of human life than ours. I cannot express what I felt otherwise than by likening myself to some unhappy wretch who is forced to satisfy his appetite upon the pomatum pots of his barbers. There were flavors of soaps, pomades, wax dyes, cosmetics—everything that is least proper to be put in a human mouth.

At each dish we exchanged glances of wonder and dismay. No doubt the original material was good enough—chickens, mutton, game, fish; large dishes of a very fine appearance, but all swimming in most abominable sauces, and so flavored and perfumed that it would have seemed more natural to attack them with a comb rather than with a fork.

At every mouthful our host humbly interrogated us by a look; and we, opening our eyes very wide, answered in chorus, "Excellent! exquisite!" and hastened to swallow a glass of wine to revive our drooping courage.

Not Much Difference.

[Edmund Yates.]

"The wives and daughters of second rate Americans are quite as pretty, clever, and accomplished as their sisters above the line of 'upper-ten-dom,' but, owing to the fact of 'pa's pile' being of only recent formation, have not had the advantage of being brought up in Europe and European ways. Hence, despite beauty, knowledge, and talent, they lack the repose and other things which mark the cast of Vere de Vere.

Their toilets are apt to be amazing, and their diamonds to rival an exhibition of lighthouse apparatus. Nevertheless they tower over their husbands, fathers, and brothers. The latter have been sent into a counting house too soon to have acquired even the varnish of good breeding.

They dress very much like a barber's block, and talk more nonsense than could be imagined.

It is a little odd that the Western man, who supplies Presidents and leading men to the United States Senate, should not be a success on the European grand tour. His cleverness is undeniable, for he has made a superb fortune, but he is obviously out of his element in the old Continent. A life divided between business and home politics leaves little leisure for cultivating the subjects on which Europeans love to dilate."

A Texas clergyman, about to be appointed Chaplain of the Penitentiary, preached a farewell sermon to his congregation, who had treated him very badly. He selected the following text: "I go to prepare a place for you, so that where I am ye may be also."

HANCOCK AND SEYMOUR.

A Striking Similarity Between Them—Two Men Made Great by one Event and Both Succumb to a Common Fate.

General Hancock, the pride of the army; of splendid physique, martial bearing; the obedient soldier, whom war made famous,—

Gov. Seymour the old time gentleman, the pacific statesman, the idol of a great party,—

Both men standard-bearers of the democracy, the one as a soldier, the other as a statesman in a presidential contest —both dead; both dead almost at the same hour!

There is a remarkable parallel and contrast difference between these two men. The war period made both famous. Both were patriots; both yielded to the same ambition; both succumbed to the same fate!

Hancock apparently well one day, the next, says the World, "is sinking step by step, like a person descending a pair of stairs."

Governor Seymour, says the Associated Press, has been gradually failing for eight years. Both men, though of entirely different temperament, yielded to a common fate.

Hancock's case was discovered by an eminent physician at the very last moment to be beyond help, because, back of the malignant ulcer in his neck, was a disorder that made living impossible.

Governor Seymour's life for eight years has been feeble, says the Associated Press, because of a serious attack of renal inflammation some time ago, and his death therefrom has only been a question of time!

Both Hancock and Seymour might have lived many years had they known and recognized the fact that they were each of them victims of a dangerous kidney disorder, and treated themselves successfully, as they might have done with Warner's safe cure. Well might a well known physician exclaim: "I sometimes think people would never die if their kidneys were always sound."

An eminent New York physician says: "Hancock's kidneys stopped excreting urea." No wonder he died, for 400 grains of this horrible blood-poisoner should be passed out by the kidneys every day; if they fail, disease runs riot throughout the whole system, and death is inevitable. Deaths from kidney disorders are of the commonest occurrence among all classes, but are noticeable in these two cases because of the prominence of the victims. Thousands of cases of needless deaths, aye, of actual suicide and homicide, occur every year, because people and physicians fail to give proper attention to the only blood-purifiers in the system.

These two cases, occurring so strikingly near each other, originating in a common source, and eventuating in a common fate, ought to arouse the people to the necessity of allowing no season to pass without taking a few bottles of the great specific alluded to, which is the only remedy known that has direct power and control over these great organs, not only preventing and curing the diseases to which they are subject, but also preventing and curing the many, many diseases which would never exist if these organs "were always sound."

Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

Coffee Down 2c, Tea Down 10c, Sugars Cown 1-2c, Syrups Down 10c, Turkish Prunes Down 1c.

Best Rio Coffee down to 10c a pound; good Rio coffee down to 8c a pound; best Roasted Rio down to 12½c a pound; Government Java, 30c.; Roasted Java 25c.

TEAS Reduced in Proportion.

It is no more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 20c per pound then they come within the reach of all.

We are enabled to sell so low simply because in consequence of our immense trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumers, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per pound.

Young Hyson, good, 20c; choice, 30c; best 50c; Gunpowder, good, 30c; choice, 40; best 50c; Oolong or Black Tea 20c; choice, 30c; best 50c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 35c; choice, 40; best 50c; English Breakfast, good, 20c; best 50c per pound.

SUGARS---White and Yellow, Down 1-2c.

Cut Loaf Sugar, 7½c per pound; Powdered Sugar, 7½c; Granulated, 7; Coffee A, 6½; Coffee C White, 6c; choice New Orleans Yellow, 5c.

Syrups Reduced 10c a Gal.

Best Golden Drip, 40c per gallon; best Sorghum, 40c per gallon; best New Orleans, Molasses, 30c.

SMOKED MEATS AND PICKLED PORKS.

Best sugar cured hams, 10c per pound; Sugar cured shoulders, 6c per pound; Pickeled pork 6c per pound; Breakfast bacon, best, 9c per pound.

THURSDAY, FEB. 18, 1886.

THE CITY.

A smile is the golden coin from the heart's mint.

The Gazette says the Fort Wayne free trade club has disbanded.

Mrs. C. A. Bookwalter is quite ill, and suffers from congestive chills.

H. C. Boughton, train-master of the Wabash at Andrews, is in the city.

Arthur Hill and Harry Gibford, of this city, attended the recent charity ball at Columbia City.

Mr. Charles L. Olds is in the city, from Indianapolis. Mr. Olds has hosts of warm friends here.

Two fights adorned a ball at Driscoll's hall last night. The place is now familiar as Knockers' Roost.

Mr. D. B. Hoover, of Huntington, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Hoover is an editor and a clever fellow.

Prof. McKnight's "Naiad Queen" is having a great run at Toledo. The Opera house is crowded nightly.

Owen Wyckoff and Charles Haag are in Indianapolis, to attend the state convention of marble and granite dealers.

Wm. Miller, of this city, is working up an excursion to New Orleans and Texas. It goes via the Wabash road March 1.

The Pennsylvania company has contracted with the Eastman Freight Car Heater company to fit up one hundred of their new cars with this device.

Mr. G. F. Watt has removed his commission brokerage office to the Swinney block, over C. H. Ectemann's house of call, formerly republican headquarters.

The citizens of Ætna and vicinity have engaged Hon. T. P. Keator, of the Gazette, to deliver one of his lectures at that place on Monday evening, Feb. 22, 1886.

Mr. Samuel Fisher, of Fort Wayne, will leave for home to-day, after having spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. David Kahn, of East Market street, says the Indianapolis Times.

Hon. S. S. Shutt, of Spencerville, a new candidate for congress, was in the city last evening. He is an uncle of Frank Shutt, now holding a clerical position west by the grace of Judge Lowry.

Supt. George W. Stevens and Master Mechanic Morris, of the Wabash road, went to Detroit last evening on a special train. The line has big interests to look after, as most freight is sent via Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay McCracken, formerly of this city, were prominent at the charity ball of Columbia City, and the Post says: "Mrs. Jay McCracken wore white cashmere with white braid trimmings, natural flowers.

Republican papers kindly suggest that the democratic party approve the candidacy of republicans for the legislature, when a United States senator is to be chosen. This is as refreshing as the "flowers that bloom in spring, tra, la, la."

S. B. Lippencott writes Mr. Louis Peltier, urging him to go to the meeting of the state health officers at Indianapolis, to-day, and oppose the scheme to introduce rubber bags for shipping the bodies of people who die from contagious diseases.

Editor Zimmerman, of the Warsaw Union leaves his district to oppose Supt. P. S. O'Rourke for congress, and a writer in the Columbia City Post, styling himself "One of the Dogs," pays his respects to Mr. O'Rourke and his documents this week to the extent of a column. It is probably from the pen of Hon. Eli W. Brown.

The lectures for the present session of the Fort Wayne college of medicine will close to-morrow evening. The final examinations will commence on Saturday. The annual commencement will be held Tuesday evening, March 2d, and this occasion is always espoused to get even with rivals as warmly as is the high school commencement.

Judge Hench gave these decisions yesterday: Gause Agricultural works vs. Neuenschwander, judgment for plaintiff for $284; Jeffrey vs. Dickerson et al., judgment for dismissal; Gause Agricultural works vs. Voors, jr., judgment for $284: Yergens et al. vs. Bradly, judgment of dismissal; Kaough vs. Snyder judgment for plaintiff for $121,44; Kaough vs. Snyder, Ransom et al., judgment for plaintiff for $179 02.

"In the encampment Indianapolis will have two relief corps represented, Jeffersonville, two; one each from Fort Wayne, Laporte, Wabash, Terre Haute, Union City, Evansville, South Bend, Brazil, Madison, New Albany, Connersville, Cicero, Kendallville, Waterloo, Auburn, North Manchester, Attica, Greencastle, and Valparaiso. There are seventy-nine delegates representing twenty-eight corps," says the Indianapolis Times.

When the mercury goes down the plumber's bills go up.

Congressman Lowry is sending congressional document all over the district.

Mrs. J. Wallace Dawson will shortly go to New Mexico, where her husband resides.

It is denied that there was a disturbance at the Mission church, last Sunday evening.

Col. I. B. McDonald, editor of the Journal, served in the army with the late Gen. Hancock.

Rev. J. F. Lang, secretary to Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger, went to St. Louis on clerical business yesterday.

J. H. Veitch is in the city. He is the traveling freight agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway.

Real live canaries in small cages are the proper favors for "germans." Fort Wayne society could stand a few.

The Wabash road has issued an order prohibiting delayed trains making up lost time. Rails break easily this sort of weather.

J. S. Goodrich, master of transportation of the Wabash, is acting trainmaster of the third and fourth divisions, vice Coffinberry, in addition to his other duties.

The proposed veteran encampment is having another boom at Toledo. This time the railroads are asked what they will do for the project and hotels and restaurants are being canvassed.

"Among the many candidates for the presidency is Mrs. Sue Beals, past senior vice president, of Fort Wayne. Mrs. Strope of the same city is a candidate for chaplain." says the Indianapolis Times.

Miss Frazier, daughter of Judge Frazier, of Warsaw, acted as short-hand reporter in the Fullerton murder trial at Columbia City. She is quite an expert, and as she has visited here this item will interest.

Hon. R. C. Bell is at home from Indianapolis. Quite a number of papers in the state mention the name of Mr. Bell as a possible candidate for United States senator, in the event of a bitter fight between McDonald and Gray.

The Galesburg polo club defeated the Princess boys last night by a score of 3 to 1. There was some fine playing by both teams, which was loudly cheered by the large audience. They will meet again to-night, at which ladies will be admitted free.

Mr. Watson, conductor on the Wabash dining car between this city and Tolono, Ill., who had been enjoying a brief lay-off, resumed his run to-day. W. B. Harner, who ran his car during his absence, returned to his desk in the superintendent's office, at Decatur, Ill.

Frank Palmer, who represents the Wabash at Chicago, is a great sufferer from two carbuncles on his neck, and his physicians for a day or two past have been somewhat alarmed as to results. Mr. Palmer has numerous friends in this city who will regret to hear of his affliction.

The joint station of the Chicago and Atlantic and Eel river division of the Wabash railroad at Newton, Wabash county, was destroyed by fire which originated from a defective flue. The ticket cases and property of the Western Union Telegraph company were saved by the operators. The loss can not be accurately estimated.

There are 400 valentines in the Indianapolis postoffice and 100 in the Fort Wayne postoffice which are now held for postage, etc., senders not having stamped them sufficiently to insure delivery. Here is a fine opportunity for the republicans to make capital if they will seek out and record the complaints of the 500 persons who failed to get their one-cent valentines.

Misses Laura and Julia Jacobson, of Fort Wayne, were at Columbia City last week, the guests of Miss Flo Kramer. They attended the charity ball there and were belles of the occasion, Miss Laura having led the grand march with Mr. Ben Kramer. The Post says: "Miss Laura Jacobson wore pink satin, with pearl front, and Miss Julia Jacobson, white satin with pearl front."

The eighteen-year sentence of Tom Fullerton, at Columbia City, is considered excessive, as John Gashatte struck him. Mrs. Gashatte, mother of the murdered man, is a spiritualist and claims that her departed son's spirit appears to her quite often. She says her son is in glory and that he is perfectly happy; that he desired that Fullerton be set free, as he has forgiven him and does not wish to see him punished or imprisoned.

The Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway company is offering new stock under the collateral trust agreement for old stock, at $8 per share on the preferred, and $6 on the common stock. The first payment was to be made Saturday of $3 on the preferred and $2 on the common. These payments are to be made running up to June 10. The sale of the road will be on April 26. No arrangements can be made for the funding of accrued interest on the various divisional bonds till after the foreclosure sale.

"A Hot Time" at the Temple to-morrow night.

Hon. Eli Brown, of Columbia City, was in the city yesterday.

Postmaster Bayard S. Gray, of Portland, was here last evening.

Dr. M. F. Porter will be one of the speakers at the annual commencement of the Fort Wayne Medical college.

Dr. J. W. Jackson, chief surgeon of the Wabash railway, from Kansas City, was the guest of Dr. C. B. Stemen.

Captain Bradley has leased the Mayer house for five years and next Monday will spread a feast for members of the press.

Wm. and John Grany and John Polhamus, boys, were arrested last night for breaking into the stable of Barney Speigel.

J. B. Gowdy, of the Occidental hotel, Traverse City, was the guest of Mr. O. C. Kneale, secretary of the Standard Life Insurance company.

The poultry show is at an end and exhibitors present were paid all premiums. The association made money this time and a number of fine birds were sold.

Mr. Christ Boseker objected to the erection of an electric light pole at the corner of Harrison and Brackenridge streets this morning, and the work is stopped.

Recently a traveling man sent $180 worth of telegrams from here about the drop in the price of tobacco, and night before last a single $30 dispatch was ticked away by the operators.

Messrs. Page & Taylor have arranged for the publication of an agricultural paper, devoted to poultry and pet stock, and it will especially be a paper for fanciers. THE SENTINEL bids the project the best of success.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Fair weather, followed by increasing cloudiness and local snows, sligtly warmer, falling barometer.

Judge O'Rourke yesterday stopped the proposed sale of the Smallhouse property to the Odd Fellows for $18,000. Hon. Wm. Fleming said he would give $20,000 and it is probable the property will rest for six years until the youngest heir is of age.

Mr. O. L. Perry, the pleasant manager of the Western Union telegraph office, is celebrating the anniversary of his birth to-day. Mr. Perry is a bachelor, and is as delicate about his age as a maid above twenty. The clever gentleman, however, is being congratulated by his many friends.

The suit of Wright vs. Pape, over a commission for the alleged sale of a state right to the agency for the Fleming road scraper is drawing to a close. M. V. B. Spencer concluded yesterday, Judge L. M. Ninde made an argument yesterday afternoon and this morning with his coat off. Mr. Fred Ninde follows him and then Judge Chapin will conclude. The case may go to the jury to-morrow morning.

Judge O'Rourke gave these judgments to-day: Andrew Schnoesenberg against Wm. Walda, for $120.25; J. D. Paine against John Muhlfeith et al., Frank H. Olds is appointed receiver; Frank A. Gocke for John H. Wery, dismissed. The judge has called the case of the Huntington National bank vs. Ruhl for February 22, and the cases of Fleming vs. Ruhl; state vs. Dollarhite, for larceny; state vs. Charles Parson, larceny, and McKinley vs. Jackson et al. are to follow in the order named.

It is said that Lake Shore stock is advancing rapidly since agents began turning over to the commissions received from outside roads. Some of the leading lines have had representatives investigating alleged frauds in this matter. It was stated by one of these representatives that since the Lake Shore agents have been refused the privilege of receiving commissions, ticket scalpers are in the habit of going to the depot and obtaining the forms and numbers of tickets sold to passengers, and sending in commission vouchers for them. A good deal of dissatisfaction exists among the Lake Shore agents over the matter, but all agree that as they cannot obtain the commissions it is just as well that scalpers should have the benefit.

The Jacobs murder trial cost Steuben county over $600.

Col. W. J. Craig, of Toledo, was in the city last evening.

Isaac L. Wiseman, an attorney of this city, established the Angola Herald.

Jacob Martin sues Lotta Martin for divorce. S. F. Swayne is attorney for the plaintiff.

The Lake Shore company has inaugurated an insurance company for the benefit of its employes.

Henry Wefel, a Pittsburg carpenter, cut his knee badly this noon, and Dr C. B. Stemen stitched to wound.

J. F. Seiberling & Co. sue Wm. Kramer for $250. Colerick & Oppenheim are attorneys for the company.

Mr. Mason Long will preach in M. E. church at Angola Sunday morning and lecture on temperance in the evening.

During the month of January the township trustee at Jeffersonville gave out to the poor people of that city 2,500 bushels of coal.

Commander Foster and Adjutant-General Sullivan made their reports at the meeting of the state G. A. R last night at Indianopolis.

Henry Busching has entered suit against Ferdinand J. Snyder for $150, and against Jefferson White for $200. P. B. Colerick, attorney.

Edward Pickering, of Mexico, was here this week closing a contract with the Jenny Electric Light company to illuminate the City of Mexico.

County Superintendent Feltz examined forty applicants for licenses to teach school, last Saturday, but has given certificates to but five of them.

The funeral services of Miss Nellie Crosby will take place at Simpson M. E. church to-morrow, (Friday) at 12:30 p. m., city time. No further notice will be given.

Miss Louise Sylvester, said to be a clever soubrette, and a sweet girl, will appear in "A Hot Time," at the Temple to-morrow. The play is said to be very funny.

"Several commercial tourists are now required to do the drumming business for Carnahan, Hanna & Co., of Fort Wayne. They advertise;" says the Lagrange Standard.

John and Michael Barone, of Monroeville, were to-day arrested for entering the lands of Charles Bock and cutting down trees. The trial will be held before Justice France.

"The 'Rev.' O. D. Osborn did not apply for a teacher's license at the last county examination, as he had a very pressing invitation to stay in Cincinnati, where his board was offered to him free," says the Kendallville News.

The mayor and city hall committee held a meeting at the Hamilton National bank this afternoon to consider a site for the proposed new city hall, and also to consider propositions for the purchase of the second ward engine house property.

The J. B. Polk party presented "Mixed Pickles" at the Temple last night. The audience was pretty large and were pleased, but the fun was transitory and did not wear. No one can recall an incident to-day and laugh over it. The party went to Columbus, O., last night.

At the fair circuit for 1886, organized at Kendallville recently, the following dates were given: Goshen, September 14 to 17; Hicksville society, September 21 to 24; LaGrange, September 29 to October 1; Kendallville, October 4 to 8; Ligonier, October 11 to 15; Angola, 11 to 15.

Superintendent Stevens, Master Mechanic Morris, Surgeon Jackson and Train Master Boughton, of the Wabash, went west in a special train this afternoon. Dr. Jackson consults all the Wabash surgeons on the line. Dr. A. J. Boswell, of Andrews, and Dr. E. B. North, of Peru, were here to meet him.

The exhibition to be given at the Temple on the 24th and 25th for the benefit of Sion S. Bass post No. 40, G. A. R., and Women's relief corps No. 7, promises to be something well worth seeing. The lecture is illustrated by nearly 100 views taken at the front from 1861 to 1865; each view covering nearly 250 square feet of canvass, thrown on the screen by a powerful stereoptican, by the aid of the Oxy calcium light. These views have never been exhibited in this city or state before and probably never will be again.

"A Brave Woman."

To-night Hardy & VonLeer's company will open at the Academy for a three nights engagement and for the first time will play to low prices. Mr. Hardie is one of the foremost actors in the profession and has, also, a voice of extraordinary sweetness. Miss Sarah Von Leer, while not so well known in this city as Mr. Hardie, is nevertheless quite as proficient. The company is a strong one. The New Orleans States says: "The play belongs to that class of dramas put out of the materials of natural but unusual domestic life which are gaining popularity with the public. Jealousy and shadows of crime do not figure so prominently as to excite disagreeable emotions, but are made to serve the part of a background to the refreshing and beautiful exhibition of the noble and tender traits of human feeling."

COLD IN DEATH.

An Aged Resident of Fort Wayne Found Dead in Bed.

Mrs. Brown, the widow of Mr. E. B Brown, who was road master of the Wabash in 1869, has been making her home with her son, L. D. Ward, who is in the employ of Davis Brothers and resides at 76 Lasselle street. She has been suffering for some years from dropsy of the heart, but seemed to feel as well as usual when she retired last evening. This morning when the family sat down to the breakfast table Mrs. Brown did not appear, but as that was not unusual nothing was thought of it. Later as the housemaid was going about the house she entered the aged lady's room and spoke to her. Receiving no reply she went closer and discovered that life was extinct and the body cold, the vital spark evidently having been gone some time. The family were notified and a physician summoned, who pronounced the cause of death the disease above mentioned.

Mrs. Brown leaves a family of five children---two living in Grand Rapids, one at Bucyrus and two in this city. She was born in Philadelphia, Pa., and has lived in Fort Wayne for twenty-four years. There will be no inquest held, as the attending physician stated that death was likely to come in the manner stated.

The relatives of the deceased have been notified and a notice of the funeral will be given later.

Real Estate Transfers.

Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:

Alonzo A. Watkins to Moses B. Price, by warranty deed, 84¼ acres in section 6, Maumee township, for $800.

Moses B. Price to Jos. M. James, by warranty deed, 42¼ acres in section 6, Maumee township, for $425.

Charles C. Geller to Fred and Wilhelmina Keenke, by warranty deed, part of lots 31 and 32, Hamilton's first addition, for $1,090.

Wm. Manthy to Maggie L Goshorn, by tax deed, lot 124, White's first addition, for $4.17.

Rhesa Swinney to August Huber, by warranty deed, lot 29, Swinney's addition, for $650.

The trial of Tom Fullerton at Columbia City was marked with many sensational features, prominent among which was the bare faced perjury of Wm. Fullerton, a brother of the prisoner, who testified before the grand jury that George threw the bottle which caused the tragedy, and on the witness stand declared that he himself provoked the trouble. He was ordered under arrest, but managed to escape the sheriff and fled the place.

NEARLY all worldly success, says some philosopher, is due either to force or cunning. According to an investigator, who instead of investigating the Keely motor, investigated Keely himself, it is an old cunning, not a new force, which is the motor of the mysterious machine. Keely was once a circus performer of sleight-of-hand tricks. He is a man of no education, but has mastered a jargon of scientific terms, which he rattles off as fast as he promised to run a train from Philadelphia to New York. He has a gift of humbug, and by mere talk can influence people into letting him have money. When they want to see some returns from it in a practical shape, and get hopeless of ever doing so, he will talk to them so confidently and bring them under such a storm of his scientific slang that they go away hopeful as ever and ready to put up more. This of itself is a kind of genius; the same kind as that which persuades the guileless man to lend another, whom he has just met, enough cash to pay his "freight bill," or for his lucky lottery ticket, or for any other of the scores of schemes that are set by the cunning for the unwary.

WOMAN suffrage has arguments in its favor and arguments against it; but the great question is disposed of rather briskly by the novelist Cable, who writes to Col. Higginson that "if our mothers are not fit to vote, they ought to stop bearing sons." Mr. Cable prefaces this short and somewhat startling solution of the whole problem by saying that he has "never thoroughly studied the subject of female suffrage."

PRIZE-FIGHTERS evidently have not yet learned the most effectual methods of reducing their weight. The British Medical Journal tells of a fat pig which was buried under the chalk cliffs of Dover for 160 days. It weighed 160 pounds when immured, and when dug out turned the scale at forty pounds. It thus lost 120 pounds in 160 days, and came out a very lean pig.

A Hard Letter Against the Bohemian Oats Sharks.

Last Saturday was Bohemian day in Roanoke. It seems the oats men had a sort of convention which called together all the dealers in that precious article, within a certain radius, who cried out with a loud voice against everybody not after their fashion and who were not "solid" with the oats dispensers. Thus ran the love least until a party of injured farmers leaped into the arena. A big fellow with a ten-acre voice mounted a box and read aloud a letter which created consternation and almost led to a riot. The epistle is as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10, 1886.

DEAR SIR—These seed men are doing a fraudulent business. Their bonds are not a safe investment. A bill is now pending in our legislature making the operations of these seed men a penitentiary offense. Very truly,

W. S. WALKER,
Chief Clerk.

A Street in Siena.

From a paper by W. D. Howells, in the Century, we quote the following: "Let the reader not figure to himself any broad, straight level when I speak of Via Cavour as the principal street; it is only not so narrow and steep and curving as the rest, and a little more light gets into it; but there is one level, and one alone, in all Siena, and that is the Lizza, the public promenade, which looks very much like an artificial level. It is planted with pleasant little books and trim hedges, beyond which lurk certain cafes and beer-houses, and it has walks and a drive. On a Sunday afternoon of February, when the military band played there, and I was told that the fine world of Siena resorted to the Lizza, we hurried thither to see it; but we must have come too late. The band were blowing the drops of distilled music out of their instruments and shutting them up, and on the drive there was but one equipage worthy of the name. Within this carriage sat a little refined-looking boy—delicate, pale, the expression of an effete aristocracy; and beside him sat a very stout, gray-mustashed, side-whiskered, eagle-nosed, elderly gentleman, who took snuff out of a gold box, and looked like Old Descen in person. I felt, at sight of them, that I had met the Sienese nobility, whom otherwise I did not see; and yet I do not say that they may not have been a prosperous fabricant of panforte and his son. A few young bucks, with fierce trotting-ponies in two-seated sulkies, hammered round the drive; the crowd on foot was mostly a cloaked and slouch-hatted crowd, which in Italy is always a plebeian crowd. There were no ladies, but many women of less degree, pretty enough, well-dressed enough, and radiantly smiling. In the centre of the place shone a resplendent group of officers, who kept quite to themselves. We could not feel that we had mingled greatly in the social gayeties of Siena, and we wandered off to climb the bastions of the old Medicean fort—very bold with its shield and pallè over the gateway—and listened to the bees humming in the oleander hedge beneath."

The Tramp Plays a Part.

An outdoor "Carnival of Literature" was recently held in one of the Southern States. Those who attended were expected to come dressed to represent some standard book or department of literature. During the evening a tramp shuffled into the gayly dressed assemblage, and when an attempt was made to hustle him out, he vigorously resisted, declaring that he represented "A summer Idle." He was allowed to stay and fill up on melons and corn juice.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—In the senate to-day Edmunds reported a resolution from the senate committee on judiciary, accompanied by a long report. That report was agreed to and adopted that the senate express its condemnation of the refusal of the attorney general under whatever influence, to send to the senate copies of papers called for by its resolution of the 25th of January as in violation of his official duty and subversive of the fundamental principles of the government and of the good administration thereof. That it is under those circumstances the duty of the senate to refuse its advice and consent to proposed removals of officers, documents and papers in reference to the supposed official or personal misconduct of whom are withheld by the executive, or any head of a department when deemed necessary by the senate and called for in considering the matter; also that the provision of the statutes concerning disabled soldiers in office ought to be faithfully and fully put in execution, and that to remove any such soldier whose faithfulness, competency and character are above reproach, and to give his place to another who has not rendered such service, a violation of the spirit of the law, and of practical ingratitude to the people and the government of the United States and the defenders of constitutional liberty and the integrity of the government.

(Signed) EDMUNDS,
INGALLS,
MCMILLAN,
HOAR,
WILSON,
EVARTS.

The report recites the facts and circumstances of the removal of Dustin and the appointment of his successor as United States attorney for the southern district of Alabama. It declares that it has been the uniform practice of the judiciary committee, since the passage of the tenure of office act, to call upon the heads of departments for all "papers and information in possession of the department" touching the conduct and administration of the officer proposed to be removed, and the character and conduct of the person proposed to be appointed. In no instance until this time has the committee met with any delay or denial in respect to furnishing such papers and information, with but a single exception, in which the delay was brief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day:

John Christian Franks, of California, United States marshal for California.

Postmasters: Titusville, Pa., Dudley S. Nye; Houghton, Mich., Edward R. Pemberly.

Lieut. Col. Nelson B. Sweetser, 8th cavalry, to colonel of 2d cavalry.

First Lieut. Edward E. Wood, 8th cavalry, to rank of captain.

Second Lieut. John A. Johnston, 8th cavalry, to 1st Lieut.

An Important Discovery.

Children Burned to Death.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—A special from Tangier, Va., says: On Sunday afternoon Captain W. L. Truitt's wife went to Sunday school, leaving four little children at home. Three little girls named Cooper, from a neighboring house came in, and while they were playing the fire went out. Captain Truitt's daughter, aged seven, put some kindling in the stove, while another child struck a match and put it to the oil. By accident a terrible explosion followed. The child who held the can was instantly killed and a two year-old boy was so badly injured that he died in three hours.

HORATIA SEYMOUR.

Senator Conkling Trembles Like an Aspen Leaf.

Picture of Mr. Seymour's Home Among the Deerfield Hills---The House in Which He Died.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A memorial of the life of ex-Gov. Horatio Seymour is being written for public sale, and an incident of the funeral is just now being discussed. Ex-Senator Conkling, his brother-in-law, was at the church and during the singing of the final hymn in the church service he trembled like an aspen leaf, and perspiration oozed from every pore. He is now in New York city. There is some thing strange in the death within four months of three defeated Democratic candidates for the presidency—McClellan, Hancock and Horatio Seymour. Mr. Seymour was chairman of the convention that nominated McClellan in 1864. Again, in 1868, he was chairman of the convention to nominate another Democratic presidential candidate. There, in spite of his protests, amid a tumult which persistently drowned all his efforts to make himself heard so that he might decline, he himself was nominated. It is the only instance in our history in which the chief officer of a presidential convention himself received the nomination.

Of late years not much has been heard of this venerable and distinguished man. After his defeat in 1868, although not at all an old man, being only 58, he made up his mind fixedly that he would never be a candidate for political office again. He might have been senator, and governor also of New York again, but he resolutely declined.

HORATIO SEYMOUR.

On this subject he said: "When I see tottering old men, upon the brink of the grave, engaged in an unseemly scramble for office, I am always reminded of Holbein's picture of 'The Dance of Death.' It shall never be said of me that I took part in such a cotillion. I shall never be a figure in such a picture." And he certainly never did.

Horatio Seymour was born at the hamlet of Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, in May, 1810. It has been said that he was born and reared in the "days of vital piety, sound democracy and pure liquor."

Seymour served on the staff of Governor William L. Marcy. That was his first office. He was elected to the New York legislature, as a Democrat, in 1842, mayor of Utica in 1843, and to the legislature again in 1844, being speaker of the house; Governor of New York in 1850 and again in 1853. He died Feb. 12, 1886.

Mr. Seymour married, early in life, Miss Mary Bleecker, of Albany, a daughter of one of the old Dutch Knickerbocker families. She was heiress, among other inheritances, to an estate of 500 acres lying on the northern bank of the Mohawk river three miles from Utica.

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR'S HOME.

This house and is on the range of the Deerfield hills and has been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour for many years. Upon one of them is the old-fashioned cottage which was their residence. From the porch in front can be seen the beautiful Mohawk valley for fifteen miles. It is in a most picturesque and commanding spot. A lovely emerald lawn stretches in front. The occupants of the old-fashioned cottage had the admirable taste not to tear it down and rebuild it in the style of some of the meaningless monstrosities fashionable in our time.

When one thinks of this lovely home, with everything in and about it to make life desirable and happy, one is not surprised at Mr. Seymour's fixed resolution never to leave it again for political office. He chose certainly the more comfortable part. Another thought comes to mind in this connection, too. It will be remembered that in 1876, when Hon. Samuel J. Tilden was the Democratic standard bearer, there were misgivings as to whether, if elected, he would live his term out. He seemed even then to some good judges to be such a feeble old man that it was almost folly to nominate him for president. Well, McClellan is dead, Hancock is dead, and now Horatio Seymour, all presidential candidates of their party. Mr. Tilden yet lives, 73 years old the very day Gen Hancock died. His health is as good as it has been for years, and his mind is lively enough to write a national letter about our coast defenses that "echoes round the world." Fate makes strange plaything of us.

ROSCOE CONKLING'S RESIDENCE.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour came into the city of Utica to spend the winter. Mrs. Roscoe Conkling was Mr. Seymour's sister. They lived in her house, and it was here the ex-governor died. Mrs. Seymour was very ill, and she it was who was expected not long to survive. The ex-governor's death was not looked for. The shock of his death will probably be too much for his suffering wife. They have been married over fifty years.

Although Mr. Seymour figured so prominently in the politics of his party for so many years, yet it is to be remembered that he never held a national office. He was never even in congress. His political career was confined to his own state of New York.

The most prominent part of his official career is connected with the famous draft riots in New York city when he was governor. This subject was not a pleasant one to Mr. Seymour to talk of. He was regarded during the war as in favor of a peaceful dismemberment of the Union. But in his inaugural address in 1863 he said: "Under no circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded." Improper Uses of the Devil.

The Devil has been put to many improper uses, whatever may be his good uses. He has been used to carry our sins, when we should bear the blame ourselves. For scarcely is anything bad done but we charge the Devil with tempting us to do it, and so measurably get rid of the responsibility. He has been used extensively in swearing, and thus made to promote profanity. His name has been given to many picturesque places, thereby profaning much that is romantic and inducing thoughts about him out of place. He has been used as a term of comparison, by which he has been made to resemble everything on earth. "Like the devil" has been predicated of the most unlike things and persons. He has been used as the terminus for all sorts of journeys recommended. "Go to the devil" is a prescription used when all other remedies fail. He has been made the standard for all weights and measurements, "heavy as the devil," "fast as the devil," and like comparisons, being in such use as to almost supplant the metrical system. Through the most uncertain standard he squares more men and things than any knit yet devised. The Devil has been used more out of place than in it, being more on earth than in hell. If we had to make up our impressions of his Satanic Majesty from the many things he has been said to look like, it would be as hard to get a consistent opinion of his appearance as of his character.—Austin Bierbower, in the Current.

CARDINAL GIBBONS.

The American Prelate Recently Promoted.

The second citizen of the United States who has been raised to the ecclesiastical dignity of a membership in the college of cardinals is Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore. The college of cardinals corresponds to our electoral college, as its chief purpose is to elect the pope or president of its church. The cardinals, who number about sixty, are chosen by the living popes in order that they may elect his successor. Archbishop Gibbons is 53 years of age and a native of Baltimore. He began life as a clerk in New Orleans. His vocation appearing to be toward the ministry he began a long series of studies and was ordained a priest. He was connected for many years with several Baltimore churches; took an important part in the deliberations of the Plenary Council of Baltimore in 1866, and presided at the following councils held in 1870 and 1885 in the same city. He was sent to labor in North Carolina in 1868 and was soon afterward consecrated bishop. In 1872 he was transferred to the see of Richmond, Va. In 1877 he was consecrated coadjutor archbishop to Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore, and upon the death of the latter succeeded him. His has been a democratic promotion by unquestionable merit, and by hard work he has stepped slowly from the plane of a humble priest to the next to the highest honor in his church. Among Baltimore citizens of every creed he is distinguished for his humility, piety and broad Christian views.

ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS.

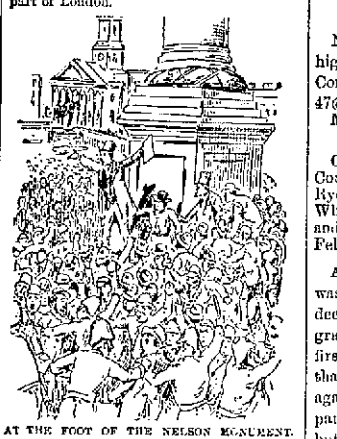
LONDON NOTES.

The Riot--Choking Off an Orator With a Red Flag.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—You will get some idea of how large London is by remembering that the population of this one city is only about 100,000 less than that of the whole state of New York, New York city included. London has nearly 5,000,000 inhabitants. Four-fifths of these are wage workers. The problem of bread to eat for them becomes more and more serious every year. It is a question that, "like a hungry lion creeping ever nigh and nigher," must be faced before many years. When the time comes the hundreds of thousands of deer parks in the United Kingdom must be made to yield bread for the people instead of game for gentlemen, or there will be revolution.

The mob which has scared London out of its seven senses to-day started in a meeting of unemployed workmen to state their grievances.

Otto Burns was the speaker. These dirty workingmen assembled in Trafalgar square, the most fashionable and finely adorned part of London.



AT THE FOOT OF THE NELSON MONUMENT.

That of itself was enough to set the blood of the British aristocracy boiling. But when one of the common herd ascended the steps of the Nelson monument, which is in the very heart of this fashionable and highly ornate square, that was adding insult to injury. The four crouching bronze lions that adorn the corners of the pedestal of the Nelson column didn't seem to mind it much, but the live British lion couldn't stand it. Burns, the big mouthed orator, began reading a set of resolutions denouncing the government as the author of the workingmen's misery, and demanding that parliament give them employment. The orator also waved a red flag. Red flags are carried in processions in America, and nobody minds them much. But while Mr. Burns was reading his resolutions and holding his red flag, the police made a dive for him. There is every probability that if the constables had let the orator finish his speech, there would have been no trouble. But they laid hands on him and choked him off. Then began the trouble that you have read of in your dispatches. There are 12,000 policemen in London, but all their efforts could not dispel that rabble. It was composed of workingmen and socialists at first, 10,000 strong. Afterward the tatters from the slums joined in and swelled the number to 50,000. Oxford street, along which they marched, smashing windows and pillaging, is the fashionable retail shopping street of London. It was fortunate they did not attack the National Gallery on the square. Had the mob chosen, blood would have been spilt in abundance, for they had it all their own way. The worst damage to person was received by a dainty sprig of the nobility, Lord Cremorne. He had some of his pretty clothes pulled off and a valuable scarf pin stolen. JOHN STETSON.

A NEW YORK murderer named Smith was so confident of acquittal that he declined to plead guilty to an inferior grade of homicide. Forty-nine of the first fifty talesmen summoned swore that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment. An extra panel of one hundred was summoned, but only fifty talesmen appeared, from whom five were sifted who had no scruples against hanging; the fifty delinquents were fined $150 each. Then an extra fifty were subpœnaed, twenty of whom were fined $250 each; the remaining thirty yielded two jurors. Still another panel of fifty was drawn; fourteen absentees were fined $250 each, and the last four jurors were obtained. Smith was found guilty of murder in the first degree, and will be hanged.

THE SAME HUMAN NATURE.

Many vain attempts are made to repeat the remarkable success of Benson's Capcine Plaster. This splendid remedy is known, and need only be used once to prove its prompt action and unrivaled curative powers to have won for it hosts of friends. Imitations have sprung up under similar sounding names, such as "Capsicin," "Capsicum," etc., intended to deceive the careless and unwary. These articles possess none of the virtues of the genuine. Therefore we hope the people will insist on getting what they call for at once their interests and ours. Ask for Benson's Plaster, and examine what is given you, and make sure that the word "Capsine" is cut in the middle of the plaster itself, and the "Three Seals" trademark is on the face cloth. Any reputable dealer will show you these safeguards without hesitation. If you cannot remember the name—Benson's Capsine Plaster—cut this paragraph from the paper. 39-1w

ATTORNEY GENERAL GARLAND states that no conclusion he has reached in the telephone affair foreshadows his retirement from the cabinet.

THE French Bureau of statistics informs the government that a new revenue of $250,000,000 can be secured each year by taking the sales of wines and intoxicating liquors under state control.

MISS EDITH M. THOMAS, the writer of some of the best verses current, is visiting in New York, where she finds the paths of praise quite as slippery as the pavements. Last season she was honored in Boston, but this is her first visit to New York since her name became known.

GEORGIA claims the oldest colored woman in the world. Her name is Aunt Silvie Dwite, and she lives in Benke County. She claims to be over 130 years old, and remembers many circumstances of the Revolutionary war. She is said to partly support herself, and is astonishingly active for a person of her years.

THE unarmored vessels for the United States navy, to be built by the Government, will mark a new departure in marine engineering. Though small, they must have engines of 8,500 horse power, capable of developing eighteen miles an hour, which presents a difficult problem. Chief Engineer Lloring is confident that these vessels will surpass anything that England possesses.

WE learn from the society news in the Maltose papers that in Malta nobody is allowed to attend the opera barefooted. All opera-goers must at least wear a pair of lisle-thread socks without any patches. When we read of such old-world restrictions we cannot feel too thankful that we are in the land of the settin' sun, where the eagle screams twice a day and the whangdoodle mourneth not for her first-born.

EX-MAYOR WILLIAM L. EWING, of St. Louis, who was defeated at the last election by David R Francis, makes startling allegations of fraud against his successful opponent. The majority of Francis over Ewing was 1,527 votes and Ewing claims that thousands of names were voted in illegally; that dead men apparently voted; that repeaters were at work; that registration from vacant lots was practiced, and that there was a wholesale destruction of republican and substitution of democratic ballots. It seems late to be making these charges concerning an election that took place last spring.

IN an interview in New York city Monday General Sherman said: "The tyranny of the press in this country is becoming simply awful. It is worse than the old tyranny of the slaveholders. It will cause a worse revolution than slavery did. It will not be bloodless, either. Why, the gossip of the press has destroyed social freedom of intercourse; it has made men afraid of their neighbors; it has led to general suspicion and distrust. No man can open his mouth any more and be sure that his confidence will be respected." THE SENTINEL is not on this category as it is always reliable and aims to do right, giving the news in advance of its cotemporaries.

COMPARATIVELY few states are represented in the senate by citizens born within their own borders. New York gave Leland Stanford to California, Teller to Colorado, Conger to Michigan, Van Wyck to Nebraska, Dolph to Oregon and Payne to Ohio. Ohio gave Voorhees and Harrison to Indiana, Allison and Wilson to Iowa, and Plumb to Kansas. Kentucky gave Cullom to Illinois, Gibson to Louisiana, Vest to Missouri, Maxey to Texas, and Call to Florida. Massachusetts gave Ingalls to Kansas and Evarts to New York. Among the states which send native-born citizens to the senate are Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia. Jones, of Florida, Fair and Swell are Irishmen; Beck is a Scotchman, and Jones of Nevada, is a Welshman. Nevada is the only state represented by two aliens, namely, Jones born in Wales, and Fair, born in Ireland.

IT is published at Indianapolis that the boiler house at the new hospital for the insane, at Evansville, which has cost so far $18,000, was in danger of falling, owing to cracked walls and foundations. E. H. Ketcham, architect for the new insane hospital, said yesterday that he had expected this some time ago. In his report to the board of commissioners, made last fall, he had stated that the boiler house was built upon a bed of quicksand and he had advised making a concrete floor fifteen inches thick beneath the boiler house and its area. It will be remembered that the republicans packed the commission that selected the insane hospital sites, and ex-Gov. Porter especially took care that Fort Wayne should be excluded.

CATARRH

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, is neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acting though the blood reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

A child having no eyes was born to a young married couple living near Remington, Ind., last week. The eyelids are as perfect as any child's, but back of them are no eye balls. Otherwise the child is normal. It is their first child.

A Strong Endorsement

is conferred upon that magnificent institution, the human system, by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" that fortifies it against the encroachments of disease. It is the great blood purifier and alterative, and as a remedy for consumption, bronchitis, and all diseases of a wasting nature, its influence is rapid, efficacious and permanent, sold everywhere.

Attorney-general Hord arrived in New York yesterday. His health is considerably improved.

The Drunkard is a burden to himself as well as a friends; but, since intoxication becomes a disease, it requires a remedy of no unusual activity. Those who have taken Simmons Regulator declare that it sets the liver in action and invigorates the system in such a way as to destroy the craving for strong drinks. The shaky, nervous and distressed should resort to the Regulator as a tonic to arouse the torpid liver to action, to regulate the bowels and remove the feeling of general depression and with it the craving for liquor.

The Wabash county bank, at Wabash, has increased its capital stock from $60,000 to $75,000.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Four score years and ten have not seen the equal of Ely's Cream Balm as a remedy for catarrh, colds in the head and hay fever. It works like magic, giving relief at once and permanent benefit. A thorough treatment cures the worst case. Apply in the nostrils.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiry is, "It's the best remedy I have ever used." Our experience is that where parties continued its use it never failed to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

An Indianapolis correspondent nominates ex-Governor Porter for the presidency.

DR. A. C. HOXSIE'S CERTAIN CROUP CURE.—This preparation, a private and original prescription, was extensively used in an unlimited practice for many years, with perfect success by the late A. C. Hoxsie, M.D., of Buffalo, N. Y. Having thoroughly tested and tried this remedy, he had no hesitation in pronouncing it positive, swift and sure to cure Croup in its most aggravated form, when administered promptly and according to direction. Its powerful and direct effect upon the diseased mucous membrane, renders it particularly invaluable to those living at a distance from a physician—as it is seldom necessary to call in professional aid. If the "Certain Croup Cure" is near at hand. While powerful and effectual, it contains no opium in any form, nor any drug which can have a deleterious or injurious effect upon the system. The most delicate infant may take it, as directed, with perfect safety. Price $1.00. For sale by all first-class druggists, wholesale and retail. dec23-eodawôm

Paper for Bank Notes.

[Boston Traveller.]

An old secret service officer said:

"The new distinctive paper for the manufacture of bank and national notes will prove a failure, in my estimation. None of it has yet been issued from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, for the good reason that Secretary Manning has ordered that all of the old fiber paper shall be used up before the new is put out. Somehow the Secretary has become possessed of the idea that the nearer we get to the paper used by the Bank of England the more secure we will be against counterfeiting. Now that is preposterous right on its face. The condition of our paper currency cannot be compared with that of England, and for the reason that every note that goes into the Bank of England, no matter what its condition may be, is destroyed at once and a new one issued in its place. There are hundreds of cases where the notes of the Bank of England have been counterfeited, and some of them pretty successfully, too.

"Only an expert can detect the difference between them and the genuine, and yet it is proposed to adopt the watermark as a protection against counterfeiting. The fiber paper has been successfully imitated by one man only, notwithstanding the long number of years it has been in circulation. A little over nine years ago Tom Ballard, who is probably the most expert counterfeiter of this generation, made a paper which it was impossible to distinguish from the genuine. This was never successfully accomplished before, and never has been done since. Fortunately we caught Ballard and convicted him. He was sent to the Albany prison for a term of thirty years. No one but Ballard knows how he made that imitation, and although we have made every legitimate endeavor that human ingenuity could suggest to get the secret from him, we have signally failed. Ballard has invented a new paper for bank and national notes since he has been in prison.

"The fiber paper has been imitated but once, and that by a counterfeiter who will be an aged and decrepid old man, should he live long enough to serve out his term. The water-mark paper is being constantly imitated, even in a country where the currency is kept in much better condition than ours.

"Another point is that after the notes become soiled the water-mark will become completely effaced, and we shall have the vast majority of our notes floating through the channels of trade without any distinctive device whatever so far as the paper is concerned."

A Dinner in Morocco.

Before taking our places at the table, we seated ourselves cross-legged on the carpets, around the master's secretary, who prepared tea for us, and made us take according to custom three cups apiece, excessively sweetened and flavored with mint.

After tea we took our seats at the table, and the master being entreated seated himself also; and then the Arab dishes, objects of our intense curiosity, began to circulate. I tasted the first with simple faith. Great heaven! My first impulse was to attack the cook. All the contractions that can be produced upon the face of a man who is suddenly assailed by an acute colic, or who hears the news of his banker's failure, were I think visible on mine.

I understood in one moment how it was that people who ate in that way should believe in another God, and take other views of human life than ours. I cannot express what I felt otherwise than by likening myself to some unhappy wretch who is forced to satisfy his appetite upon the pomatum pots of his barbers. There were flavors of soaps, pomades, wax dyes, cosmetics—everything that is least proper to be put in a human mouth.

At each dish we exchanged glances of wonder and dismay. No doubt the original material was good enough—chickens, mutton, game, fish; large dishes of a very fine appearance, but all swimming in most abominable sauces, and so flavored and perfumed that it would have seemed more natural to attack them with a comb rather than with a fork.

At every mouthful our host humbly interrogated us by a look; and we, opening our eyes very wide, answered in chorus, "Excellent exquisite!" and hastened to swallow a glass of wine to revive our drooping courage.

Not Much Difference.

[Edmund Yates.]

"The wives and daughters of second rate Americans are quite as pretty, clever, and accomplished as their sisters above the line of 'upper-ten-dum,' but, owing to the fact of 'pa's pile' being of only recent formation, have not had the advantage of being brought up in Europe and European ways. Hence, despite beauty, knowledge, and talent, they lack the repose and other things which mark the cast of Vere de Vere.

Their toilets are apt to be amazing, and their diamonds to rival an exhibition of lighthouse apparatus. Nevertheless they tower over their husbands, fathers, and brothers. The latter have been sent into a counting house too soon to have acquired even the varnish of good breeding.

They dress very much like a barber's block, and talk more nonsense than could be imagined.

It is a little odd that the Western man, who supplies Presidents and lending men to the United States Senate, should not be a success on the European grand tour. His cleverness is undeniable, for he has made a superb fortune, but he is obviously out of his element in the old Continent. A life divided between business and home politics leaves little leisure for cultivating the subjects on which Europeans love to dilate."

A Texas clergyman, about to be appointed Chaplain of the Penitentiary, preached a farewell sermon to his congregation, who had treated him very badly. He selected the following text: "I go to prepare a place for you, so that where I am ye may be also."

HANCOCK AND SEYMOUR.

A Striking Similarity Between Them---Two Men Made Great by one Event and Both Succumb to a Common Fate.

General Hancock, the pride of the army; of splendid physique, martial bearing; the obedient soldier, whom war made famous,—

Gov. Seymour the old time gentleman, the pacific statesman, the idol of a great party,—

Both men standard-bearers of the democracy, the one as a soldier, the other as a statesman in a presidential contest —both dead; both dead almost at the same hour!

There is a remarkable parallel and contrast difference between these two men. The war period made both famous. Both were patriots; both yielded to the same ambition; both succumbed to the same fate!

Hancock apparently well one day, the next, says the World, "is sinking step by step, like a person descending a pair of stairs."

Governor Seymour, says the Associated Press, has been gradually failing for eight years. Both men, though of entirely different temperament, yielded to a common fate.

Hancock's case was discovered by an eminent physician at the very last moment to be beyond help, because, back of the malignant ulcer in his neck, was a disorder that made living impossible.

Governor Seymour's life for eight years has been feeble, says the Associated Press, because of a serious attack of renal inflammation some time ago, and his death therefrom has only been a question of time!

Both Hancock and Seymour might have lived many years had they known and recognized the fact that they were each of them victims of a dangerous kidney disorder, and treated themselves successfully, as they might have done with Warner's safe cure. Well might a well known physician exclaim: "I sometimes think people would never die if their kidneys were always sound."

An eminent New York physician says: "Hancock's kidneys stopped excreting urea." No wonder he died, for 400 grains of this horrible blood-poisoner should be passed out by the kidneys every day; if they fail, disease runs riot throughout the whole system, and death is inevitable. Deaths from kidney disorders are of the commonest occurrence among all classes, but are noticeable in these two cases because of the prominence of the victims. Thousands of cases of needless deaths, aye, of actual suicide and homicide, occur every year, because people and physicians fail to give proper attention to the only blood-purifiers in the system.

These two cases, occurring so strikingly near each other, originating in a common source, and eventuating in a common fate, ought to arouse the people to the necessity of allowing no season to pass without taking a few bottles of the great specific alluded to, which is the only remedy known that has direct power and control over these great organs, not only preventing and curing the diseases to which they are subject, but also preventing and curing the many, many diseases which would never exist if these organs "were always sound."

THE CITY.

A smile is the golden coin from the heart's mint.

The Gazette says the Fort Wayne free trade club has disbanded.

Mrs. C. A. Bookwalter is quite ill, and suffers from congestive chills.

H. C. Boughton, train-master of the Wabash at Andrews, is in the city.

Arthur Hill and Harry Gibford, of this city, attended the recent charity ball at Columbia City.

Mr. Charles L. Olds is in the city, from Indianapolis. Mr. Olds has hosts of warm friends here.

Two fights adorned a ball at Driscoll's hall last night. The place is now familiar as Knockers' Roost.

Mr. D. B. Hoover, of Huntington, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Hoover is an editor and a clever fellow.

Prof. McKnight's "Naiad Queen" is having a great run at Toledo. The Opera house is crowded nightly.

Owen Wyckoff and Charles Haug are in Indianapolis, to attend the state convention of marble and granite dealers.

Wm. Miller, of this city, is working up an excursion to New Orleans and Texas. It goes via the Wabash road March 1.

The Pennsylvania company has contracted with the Eastman Freight Car Heater company to fit up one hundred of their new cars with this device.

Mr. G. F. Watt has removed his commission brokerage office to the Swinney block, over C. H. Estemann's house of call, formerly republican headquarters.

The citizens of Ætna and vicinity have engaged Hon. T. P. Kealor, of the Gazette, to deliver one of his lectures at that place on Monday evening, Feb. 22, 1886.

Mr. Samuel Fisher, of Fort Wayne, will leave for home to-day, after having spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. David Kahn, of East Market street, says the Indianapolis Times.

Hon. S. S. Shutt, of Spencerville, a new candidate for congress, was in the city last evening. He is an uncle of Frank Shutt, now holding a clerical position west by the grace of Judge Lowry.

Supt. George W. Stevens and Master Mechanic Morris, of the Wabash road, went to Detroit last evening on a special train. The line has big interests to look after, as most freight is sent via Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay McCracken, formerly of this city, were prominent at the charity ball of Columbia City, and the Post says: "Mrs. Jay McCracken wore white cashmere with white braid trimmings, natural flowers.

Republican papers kindly suggest that the democratic party approve the candidacy of republicans for the legislature, when a United States senator is to be chosen. This is as refreshing as the "flowers that bloom in spring, tra, la, la."

S. B. Lippencott writes Mr. Louis Peltier, urging him to go to the meeting of the state health officers at Indianapolis, to-day, and oppose the scheme to introduce rubber bags for swipping the bodies of people who die from contagious diseases.

Editor Zimmerman, of the Warsaw Union leaves his district to oppose Supt. P. S. O'Rourke for congress, and a writer in the Columbia City Post, styling himself "One of the Dogs," pays his respects to Mr. O'Rourke and his doomments this week to the extent of a column. It is probably from the pen of Hon. Eli W. Brown.

The lectures for the present session of the Fort Wayne college of medicine will close to-morrow evening. The final examinations will commence on Saturday. The annual commencement will be held Tuesday evening, March 2d, and this occasion is always espoused to get even with rivals as warmly as is the high school commencement.

Judge Hench gave these decisions yesterday: Gause Agricultural works vs. Neuenschwander, judgment for plaintiff for $284; Jeffrey vs. Dickerson et al., judgment for dismissal; Gause Agricultural works vs. Voors, jr., judgment for $284; Yergens et al. vs. Bradly, judgment of dismissal; Kaough vs. Snyder judgment for plaintiff for $121,44; Kaough vs. Snyder, Ransom et al., judgment for plaintiff for $179 02.

"In the encampment Indianapolis will have two relief corps represented, Jeffersonville, two; one each from Fort Wayne, Laporte, Wabash, Terre Haute, Union City, Evansville, South Bend, Brazil, Madison, New Albany, Connersville, Cicero, Kendallville, Waterloo, Auburn, North Manchester, Attica, Greencastle, and Valparaiso. There are seventy-nine delegates representing twenty-eight corps," says the Indianapolis Times.

When the mercury goes down the plumber's bills go up.

Congressman Lowry is sending congressional document all over the district.

Mrs. J. Wallace Dawson will shortly go to New Mexico, where her husband resides.

It is denied that there was a disturbance at the Mission church, last Sunday evening.

Col. I. B. McDonald, editor of the Journal, served in the army with the late Gen. Hancock.

Rev. J. F. Lang, secretary to Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger, went to St. Louis on clerical business yesterday.

J. H. Veitch is in the city. He is the traveling freight agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway.

Real live canaries in small cages are the proper favors for "germans." Fort Wayne society could stand a few.

The Wabash road has issued an order prohibiting delayed trains making up lost time. Rails break easily this sort of weather.

J. S. Goodrich, master of transportation of the Wabash, is acting trainmaster of the third and fourth divisions, vice Coffinberry, in addition to his other duties.

The proposed veteran encampment is having another boom at Toledo. This time the railroads are asked what they will do for the project and hotels and restaurants are being canvassed.

"Among the many candidates for the presidency is Mrs. Sue Beals, past senior vice president, of Fort Wayne. Mrs. Strope of the same city is a candidate for chaplain." says the Indianapolis Times.

Miss Frazier, daughter of Judge Frazier, of Warsaw, acted as short-hand reporter in the Fullerton murder trial at Columbia City. She is quite an expert, and as she has visited here this item will interest.

Hon. R. C. Bell is at home from Indianapolis. Quite a number of papers in the state mention the name of Mr. Bell as a possible candidate for United States senator, in the event of a bitter fight between McDonald and Gray.

The Galesburg polo club defeated the Princess boys last night by a score of 3 to 1. There was some fine playing by both teams, which was loudly cheered by the large audience. They will meet again to-night, at which ladies will be admitted free.

Mr. Watson, conductor on the Wabash dining car between this city and Toledo, Ill., who had been enjoying a brief layoff, resumed his run to-day. W. B. Harner, who ran his car during his absence, returned to his desk in the superintendent's office, at Decatur, Ill.

Frank Palmer, who represents the Wabash at Chicago, is a great sufferer from two carbuncles on his neck, and his physicians for a day or two past have been somewhat alarmed as to results. Mr. Palmer has numerous friends in this city who will regret to hear of his affliction.

The joint station of the Chicago and Atlantic and Eel river division of the Wabash railroad at Newton, Wabash county, was destroyed by fire which originated from a defective flue. The ticket cases and property of the Western Union Telegraph company were saved by the operators. The loss can not be accurately estimated.

There are 400 valentines in the Indianapolis postoffice and 100 in the Fort Wayne postoffice which are now held for postage, etc., senders not having stamped them sufficiently to insure delivery. Here is a fine opportunity for the republicans to make capital if they will seek out and record the complaints of the 500 persons who failed to get their one-cent valentines.

Misses Laura and Julia Jacobson, of Fort Wayne, were at Columbia City last week, the guests of Miss Flo Kramer. They attended the charity ball there and were belles of the occasion, Miss Laura having led the grand march with Mr. Ben Kramer. The Post says: "Miss Laura Jacobson wore pink satin, with pearl front, and Miss Julia Jacobson, white satin with pearl front."

The eighteen-year sentence of Tom Fullerton, at Columbia City, is considered excessive, as John Gashatte struck him. Mrs. Gashatte, mother of the murdered man, is a spiritualist and claims that her departed son's spirit appears to her quite often. She says her son is in glory and that he is perfectly happy; that he desired that Fullerton be set free, as he has forgiven him and does not wish to see him punished or imprisoned.

The Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway company is offering new stock under the collateral trust agreement for old stock, at 38 per share on the preferred, and $6 on the common stock. The first payment was to be made Saturday of $3 on the preferred and $2 on the common. These payments are to be made running up to June 10. The sale of the road will be on April 26. No arrangements can be made for the funding of accrued interest on the various divisional bonds till after the foreclosure sale.

Mr. Christ Boseker objected to the erection of an electric light pole at the corner of Harrison and Brackenridge streets this morning, and the work is stopped.

Recently a traveling man sent $180 worth of telegrams from here about the drop in the price of tobacco, and night before last a single $30 dispatch was ticked away by the operators.

Messrs. Page & Taylor have arranged for the publication of an agricultural paper, devoted to poultry and pet stock, and it will especially be a paper for fanciers. THE SENTINEL bids the project the best of success.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Fair weather, followed by increasing cloudiness and local snows, slightly warmer, falling barometer.

Judge O'Rourke yesterday stopped the proposed sale of the Smallhouse property to the Odd Fellows for $18,000. Hon. Wm. Fleming said he would give $20,000 and it is probable the property will rest for six years until the youngest heir is of age.

Mr. O. L. Perry, the pleasant manager of the Western Union telegraph office, is celebrating the anniversary of his birth to-day. Mr. Perry is a bachelor, and is as delicate about his age as a maid above twenty. The clever gentleman, however, is being congratulated by his many friends.

The suit of Wright vs. Pape, over a commission for the alleged sale of a state right to the agency for the Fleming road scraper is drawing to a close. M. V. B. Spencer concluded yesterday, Judge L. M. Ninde made an argument yesterday afternoon and this morning with his coat off. Mr. Fred Ninde follows him and then Judge Chapin will conclude. The case may go to the jury to-morrow morning.

Judge O'Rourke gave these judgments to-day: Andrew Schnoesenberg against Wm. Walda, for $120.25; J. D. Paine against John Muhlfeith et al., Frank H. Olds is appointed receiver; Frank A. Gocke for John H. Wery, dismissed. The judge has called the case of the Huntington National bank vs. Ruhl for February 22, and the cases of Fleming vs. Ruhl; state vs. Dollarbite, for larceny; state vs. Charles Parson, larceny, and McKinley vs. Jackson et al. are to follow in the order named.

It is said that Lake Shore stock is advancing rapidly since agents began turning over to the commissions received from outside roads. Some of the leading lines have had representatives investigating alleged frauds in this matter. It was stated by one of these representatives that since the Lake Shore agents have been refused the privilege of receiving commissions, ticket scalpers are in the habit of going to the depot and obtaining the forms and numbers of tickets sold to passengers, and sending in commission vouchers for them. A good deal of dissatisfaction exists among the Lake Shore agents over the matter, but all agree that as they cannot obtain the commissions it is just as well that scalpers should have the benefit.

The Jacobs murder trial cost Steuben county over $600.

Col. W. J. Craig, of Toledo, was in the city last evening.

Isaac L. Wiseman, an attorney of this city, established the Angola Herald.

Jacob Martin sues Lotta Martin for divorce. S. F. Swayne is attorney for the plaintiff.

The Lake Shore company has inaugurated an insurance company for the benefit of its employes.

Henry Weisel, a Pittsburg carpenter, cut his knee badly this noon, and Dr C. B. Stemen stitched to wound.

J. F. Seiberling & Co. sue Wm. Kramer for $250. Colerick & Oppenheim are attorneys for the company.

Mr. Mason Long will preach in M. E. church at Angola Sunday morning and lecture on temperance in the evening.

During the month of January the township trustee at Jeffersonville gave out to the poor people of that city 2,500 bushels of coal.

Commander Foster and Adjutant-General Sullivan made their reports at the meeting of the state G. A. R. last night at Indianapolis.

Henry Busching has entered suit against Ferdinand J. Snyder for $150, and against Jefferson White for $200. P. B. Colerick, attorney.

The exhibition to be given at the Temple on the 24th and 25th for the benefit of Sion S. Bass post No. 40, G. A. R., and Women's relief corps No. 7, promises to be something well worth seeing. The lecture is illustrated by nearly 100 views taken at the front from 1861 to 1865; each view covering nearly 250 square feet of canvass, thrown on the screen by a powerful stereoptican, by the aid of the Oxy calcium light. These views have never been exhibited in this city or state before and probably never will be again.

"A Brave Woman."

To-night Hardy & VonLeer's company will open at the Academy for a three nights engagement and for the first time will play to low prices. Mr. Hardie is one of the foremost actors in the profession and has, also, a voice of extraordinary sweetness. Miss Sarah Von Leer, while not so well known in this city as Mr. Hardie, is nevertheless quite as proficient. The company is a strong one. The New Orleans States says: "The play belongs to that class of dramas put out of the materials of natural but unusual domestic life which are gaining popularity with the public. Jealousy and shadows of crime do not figure so prominently as to excite disagreeable emotions, but are made to serve the part of a background to the refreshing and beautiful exhibition of the noble and tender traits of human feeling."

COLD IN DEATH.

An Aged Resident of Fort Wayne Found Dead in Bed.

Mrs. Brown, the widow of Mr. E. B Brown, who was road master of the Wabash in 1869, has been making her home with her son, L. D. Ward, who is in the employ of Davis Brothers and resides at 76 Lasselle street. She has been suffering for some years from dropsy of the heart, but seemed to feel as well as usual when she retired last evening. This morning when the family sat down to the breakfast table Mrs. Brown did not appear, but as that was not unusual nothing was thought of it. Later as the housemaid was going about the house she entered the aged lady's room and spoke to her. Receiving no reply she went closer and discovered that life was extinct and the body cold, the vital spark evidently having been gone some time. The family were notified and a physician summoned, who pronounced the cause of death the disease above mentioned.

Mrs. Brown leaves a family of five children—two living in Grand Rapids, one at Bucyrus and two in this city. She was born in Philadelphia, Pa., and has lived in Fort Wayne for twenty-four years. There will be no inquest held, as the attending physician stated that death was likely to come in the manner stated.

The relatives of the deceased have been notified and a notice of the funeral will be given later.

Rhesa Swinney to August Huber, by warranty deed, lot 29, Swinney's addition, for $650.

The trial of Tom Fullerton at Columbia City was marked with many sensational features, prominent among which was the bare faced perjury of Wm. Fullerton, a brother of the prisoner, who testified before the grand jury that George threw the bottle which caused the tragedy, and on the witness stand declared that he himself provoked the trouble. He was ordered under arrest, but managed to escape the sheriff and fled the place.

The prize chickens attracted much attention at the express offices and depots.

NEARLY all worldly success, says some philosopher, is due either to force or cunning. According to an investigator, who instead of investigating the Keely motor, investigated Keely himself, it is an old cunning, not a new force, which is the motor of the mysterious machine. Keely was once a circus performer of sleight-of-hand tricks. He is a man of no education, but has mastered a jargon of scientific terms, which he rattles off as fast as he promised to run a train from Philadelphia to New York. He has a gift of humbug, and by mere talk can influence people into letting him have money. When they want to see some returns from it in a practical shape, and get hopeless of ever doing so, he will talk to them so confidently and bring them under such a storm of his scientific slang that they go away hopeful as ever and ready to put up more. This of itself is a kind of genius; the same kind as that which persuades the guileless man to lend another, whom he has just met, enough cash to pay his "freight bill," or for his lucky lottery ticket, or for any other of the scores of schemes that are set by the cunning for the unwary.

WOMAN suffrage has arguments in its favor and arguments against it; but the great question is disposed of rather briskly by the novelist Cable, who writes to Col. Higginson that "if our mothers are not fit to vote, they ought to stop bearing sons." Mr. Cable professes this short and somewhat startling solution of the whole problem by saying that he has "never thoroughly studied the subject of female suffrage."

PRIZE-FIGHTERS evidently have not yet learned the most effectual methods of reducing their weight. The British Medical Journal tells of a fat pig which was buried under the chalk cliffs of Dover for 160 days. It weighed 160 pounds when immured, and when dug out turned the scale at forty pounds. It thus lost 120 pounds in 160 days, and came out a very lean pig.

That my bad cough
Would take me off,
Of that I was quite sure;
But now I'm well
And am glad to tell,
'Twas done by Red Star Cough Cure.

IS THIS A FACT?

A Hard Letter Against the Bohemian Oats Sharks.

Last Saturday was Bohemian day in Roanoke. It seems the oats men had a sort of convention which called together all the dealers in that precious article, within a certain radius, who cried out with a loud voice against everybody not after their fashion and who were not "solid" with the oats dispensers. Thus ran the love feast until a party of injured farmers leaped into the arena. A big fellow with a ten-acre voice mounted a box and read aloud a letter which created consternation and almost led to a riot. The epistle is as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10, 1886.

DEAR SIR—These seed men are doing a fraudulent business. Their bonds are not a safe investment. A bill is now pending in our legislature making the operations of these seed men a penitentiary offense. Very truly,

W. S. WALKER,
Chief Clerk.

A Street in Siena.

From a paper by W. D. Howells, in the Century, we quote the following: "Let the reader not figure to himself any broad, straight level when I speak of Via Cavour as the principal street; it is only not so narrow and steep and curving as the rest, and a little more light gets into it; but there is one level, and one alone, in all Siena, and that is the Lizza, the public promenade, which looks very much like an artificial level. It is planted with pleasant little beds and trim hedges, beyond which lurk certain cafes and beer-houses, and it has walks and a drive. On a Sunday afternoon of February, when the military band played there, and I was told that the fine world of Siena resorted to the Lizza, we hurried thither to see it; but we must have come too late. The band were blowing the drops of distilled music out of their instruments and shutting them up, and on the drive there was but one equipage worthy of the name. Within this carriage sat a little refined-looking boy—delicate, pale, the expression of an effete aristocracy; and beside him sat a very stout, gray-mustashed, side-whiskered, eagle-nosed, elderly gentleman, who took snuff out of a gold box, and looked like Old Deacon in person. I felt, at sight of them, that I had met the Sienese nobility, whom otherwise I did not see; and yet I do not say that they may not have been a prosperous fabricant of panforte and his son. A few young bucks, with fierce trotting-ponies in two-seated sulkies, hammered round the drive; the crowd on foot was mostly a close naked and slouch-hatted crowd, which in Italy is always a plebeian crowd. There were no ladies, but many women of less degree, pretty enough, well-dressed enough, and radiantly smiling. In the centre of the place shone a resplendent group of officers, who kept quite to themselves. We could not feel that we had mingled greatly in the social gayeties of Siena, and we wandered off to climb the bastions of the old Medicean fort—very bold with its shield and palle over the gateway—and listened to the bees humming in the oleander hedge beneath."

The Tramp Plays a Part.

An outdoor "Carnival of Literature" was recently held in one of the Southern States. Those who attended were expected to come dressed to represent some standard book or department of literature. During the evening a tramp shuffled into the gayly dressed assemblage, and when an attempt was made to hustle him out, he vigorously resisted, declaring that he represented "A summer Idle." He was allowed to stay and fill up on melons and corn juice.—New York Commercial Advertiser.
